While the liquidation of the last two weeks has been heavy, it is to be noticed that some support has come from heavy interests and from those who are confident of a bull market in the future. They may have to wait six months or a year for it, but they will finally be rewarded. Prognostications are likely to miscarry in these uncertain times, but with due regard for the uncertain factors in the situation, it seems reasonable to predict an unusually interesting and rising market in the course of the next year. It would be pleasanter to be able to chronicle opinions favoring an immediate rise. There is no one who will hazard such a view, however, at the present, but there are plenty who see sufficient reasons to indulge in bull talk who see sufficient reasons to indulge in buil talk concerning prospects.

The results of the elections of the week are the The results of the elections of the week are the fortmost hopes of the advocates of higher prices and the believers in better times. By heavy majorities throughout the country the financial and economic theories, policies and practices of the present Administration, of the Populists and of the silver shouters have received popular disapproval. The country is heartly sick of and disgusted with the manner in which the finances of the Government have been conducted and it is determined to restore to complete power a party which in times of peace is not forced to is determined to restore to complete power a party which in times of peace is not forced to call upon foreign bankers for loans to meet current expenses. The financial situation of the Government is in a tangle. Government financial emergencies require a remedy which only a party of experience, capability and intelligence can administer, and to such a party the country has determined to trust its interests in the future. The influence of this popular decision as reflected in Tuesday's elections has yet to be felt in the stock market. At present the financial situation and the strength of foreign exchange stand in the way of good news affecting 'he market, especially when its professional character is considered, but all classes of operators believe that after the meeting of Congress the market will receive the benefit of the good results of the fall elections.

In the week just closed the condition of the row stands at $19,260,050, against $61,663,650 in the corresponding week last year, and $57,828,857 in the year before that. The operations of the fub Treasury in the week with the banks caused a last to the banks of $524,872.

The changes in the three preceding years were made up as follows: 1834—Loans increased $1,000,000, cash decreased $48,200 and surplus reserve decreased $660,625, 1832—Loans increased $5,508,500, deposits increased $6,602,500, cash increased $5,508,500, deposits increased $1,180,000, cash increased $6,762,760 and surplus sparently caused no increase in the fall elections.

In the week just closed the condition of the Nation's finances, the strength in the foreign exchange market and the serious aspect of political affairs abroad have been the leading factors responsible for declines; for actual trade conditions do not warrant lower prices. Gold could now be shipped at a profit, and it is reported that arrangements have been made to ship some of the metal this week, although the demand for remittance does not show any great increase. Commercial bills, however, are extremely scarce, and the decline in cotton has apparently caused no increase in the demand from abroad.

The unfortunate condition of the foreign trade of this country, which proceeds directly from the Wilson tariff bill, and the lamentable situation of the National Treasury, also a result of the Wilson bill, have been aggravated by the developments of a political nature abroad, as well as by the over-speculation in mining shares in as by the over-speculation in mining shares in Paris and London. Under ordinary conditions a war scare abroad would benefit rather than injure our security markets, but confidence has been violently shaken and Europeans are afraid of American markets. This may, and probably will, American markets. In single, and proposity was pass away when Europe sees the Republican party in full control of the Government again. The complications in Turkey, which may lead to serious trouble between the Powers, were responsible for a break in British consols, French posite $88,644,500 $63,477,100 $94,410,200 properties and other Government securities and an advance in discount rates. Besides this, it is expected that the speculation in mining shares in advance in discount rates. Besides this, it is expected that the speculation in mining shares in Paris will presently call forth several confessions of serious insolvency, and it is to be observed that the National banks are required to keep a though on Friday it reached fair-sized proportions.

though on Friday it teached that the corn crop has not yet begun to move, and several minor adverse conditions in the general situation of trade have caused slight setbacks to activity and improvement, but they have not been sufficient to cause any material let-up in the general course of industrial prosperity. This is proved by the returns of bank clearings which for the month of October show an increase of over 22 per cent over the corresponding month last year, and they are only a little less than the large total for October, 1892. Railroad earnings in the South and Southwest have been hurt by the short cotton crop, but in other parts of the country large gains have been made, especially by the roads in the spring wheat sections. The St. Paul company's earnings increased nearly $300,000 in October, and other Granger roads also report handsome gains, while the Eastern roads, particularly the New-York Central and the Pennsylvania report heavy increases every week. These factors, however, had no effect upon stocks and all the Granger stocks closed lower, as well as the greater part of the railway list. Louisville and Nashville suffered from foreign liquidation, also St. Paul. The Industrial shares were generally lower, as were the leaders in point of activity all the week, manipulation being freely indulged in to arrange the pieces to suit the insiders. These Industrial stocks, mostly representing vicious trusts, continue to cause trouble in the Street, and the trusts' managers see trouble in the Street, and the trusts' managers see trouble in the Street, and the incoming Congress similar to that indulged in with the last. The high stock values of some of these trust stocks are likely to have a bad fall from future legislation, and there is no reason to be bullish upon their outlook.

The following table shows the movements of the chief active stocks in the week: The shortage in the cotton crop, the fact that
